Mathew Bowyer

You can't change your past.
But you can recalibrate your future.

The bookmaker at the center of the Shohei Ohtani and Ippei Mizuhara betting scandal — one of the biggest betting stories in sports history. Mathew pleaded guilty in 2024 and was sentenced in August 2025. Today he speaks candidly about ambition, judgment under pressure, consequences and accountability, and about what it takes to build a different future.

SIGNATURE KEYNOTES

01 The Art of Recalibration

Rebuilding direction after a setback. How to assess the present honestly, identify what truly needs to change and define practical next steps.

02 The Cost of the Next Bad Decision

How rationalization and pressure influence judgment — and how small convenient excuses compound into consequences.

03 When Success Becomes Self-Destruction

What happens when ambition, identity and risk become intertwined, and how to recognize destructive patterns earlier.
